

August 2018 will always be embedded in the memory of Keralites. Heavy rainfall and the subsequent opening of 35 dams across the state created havoc in the state of Kerala. In the ensuing rescue operations everyone joined hands transcending barriers of caste, class and creed. As a socially committed educational institution, MACFAST played a vital role in rebuilding Kerala.

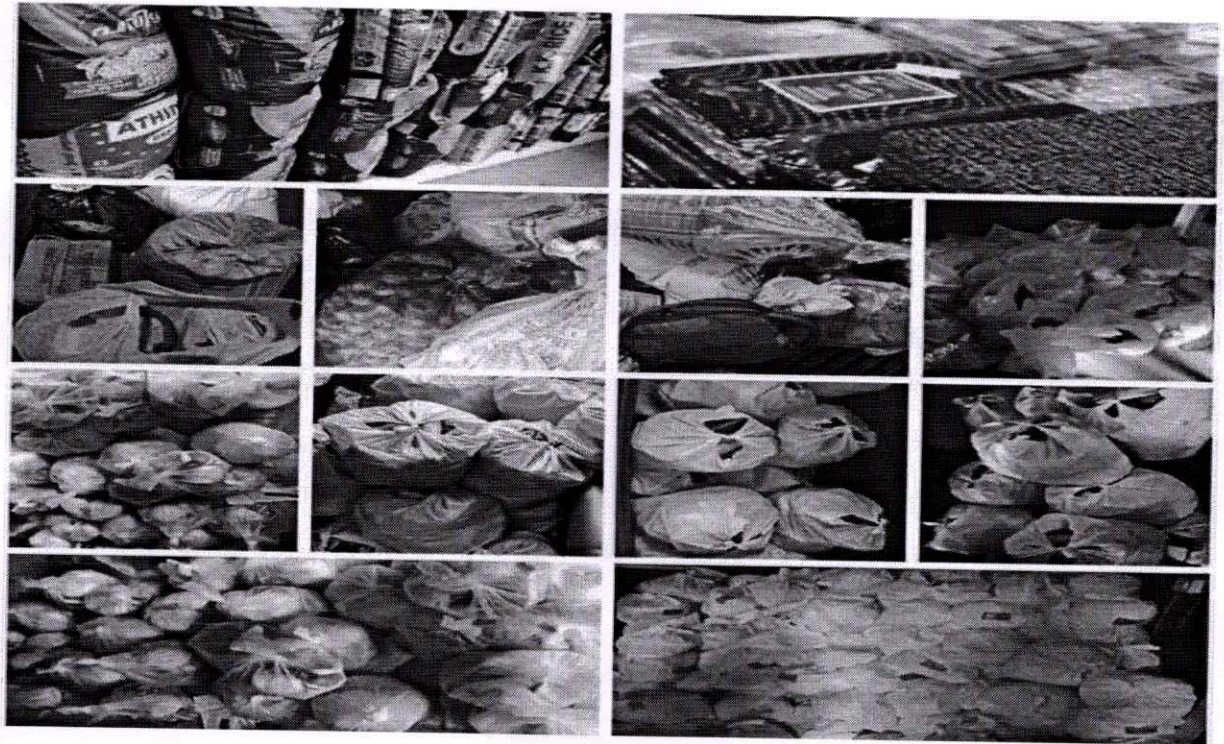

As the news spread that a number of families were displaced, isolated and were shifted to camps on account of the heavy rains and flood, the college decided to be part of rescue operations. In short span of time, faculty members and students of the college collected necessary food items, dress materials, etc., and handed it over to distribution centres.

Flood Relief Activities

- The college began to act as an emergency control room with the help of Radio MACFAST 90.4. This helped to save the life of many people.
- Rescue operations were done by the college in Thiruvalla region.
- The college opened relief camp. People from flood affected areas were camped in the college. The college provided food, shelter and essentials to the people.
- Through RADIO MACFAST 90.4 Community Radio valuable information from the Government Officials were communicated regularly.
- NSS Unit Activities:
 - NSS Unit of the college have provided food and other utilizes to nearby relief camps.
 - NSS volunteers of MACFAST collected food materials and clothing worth Rs. 73,226 and gave it to the Thiruvalla diet centre for the flooded areas and for flood affected persons in Wayanad.
 - Books were distributed to students.
- After the catastrophe created by flood and continuous rainfall, the next major threat to Kerala society was to clean the house and premises. The members of MACFAST College began to work according to their potential to re-build Kerala. Students and staff have volunteered for cleaning activities after the flood.
- The college raised fund to contribute to the needy. The students, faculty members and alumni contributed Rs. 3,59,400 to Chief Minister's Distress Relief Fund (CMDRF) and Rs. 3,82,120 to the people in need.
