Workshop on “Chocolate making for prospective entrepreneurs” 2017-18

Small-scale entrepreneurship in the food industry can open up new job opportunities for women and young talents and will also help in national development. With the idea of encouraging people in this field, the School of Biosciences, MACFAST has organized hands-on training in chocolate making. The two sets of training programs conducted in 2017-2018 were coordinated by Mr. Biju Dharmaplan and the technical section was handled by Mrs. Pinchu Elizabeth Thomas. The date of conduct and no. of participants in each session are enlisted below.
